

#PhilanthropyForClimate: How Can Philanthropy Galvanise Local Action For Global Impact?

Thank you for attending the COP26 Philanthropy Roundtable - a virtual foundation gathering in the context of COP26 in Glasgow on November 9, 2021 hosted by Dafne, the European Community Foundation Initiative, Foundation Scotland, Foundations Platform F20, and WINGS.

Sign the International Commitment today and take a stance on the climate emergency here.

Concrete points of interest	Gender Equality <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Perspectives of funders/philanthropists on addressing gender equity in climate adaptation strategies, specifically issues affecting women and girls and other marginalised populations such as sexual and reproductive health and rights, gender based violence, and access to services. Further information can be found at the Global Alliance for Green and Gender Action (GAGGA). They have produced a few reports - available on their website - that may answer part of this question. Indigenous People <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Inside Philanthropy article (see here)• Alliance Magazine and IFIP - Indigenous Philanthropy special feature (see here)• Another article Philanthropy Must Support Indigenous Led Climate Solutions (see here)
Tools	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Active Philanthropy's brand new Climate Mitigation Tool. Active Philanthropy is planning to translate the tool - at least into German. Despite not planning to tailor the tool to specific geographies, the team at Active Philanthropy is checking if it might be feasible to add a "filter by region" option.
Concrete Action on the ground	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The Centre for Asian Philanthropy and Society is looking closely at what's happening in Asia for environmental philanthropy. This region is so diverse, home to both big polluters and economies that have little responsibility for the current crisis, but are most exposed to the risks of an impacted world. We're really interested in learning more about how businesses and philanthropists in this region are taking initiative in working towards net zero, even if governments are lagging behind.• Foundation Scotland: You can find out more about Foundation Scotland's climate work here; (see here)• 'Building a foundation for sustainable communities across Scotland', read the article here (see here)

- At Value2, they are working with a team that really knows how to assess carbon footprint of public equity.
- Practical examples of how Community Foundations are embracing the SDGs (see here)
- Foundation Funding for Climate mitigation (see here)

Articles & Statements

- IFIP's statement on the commitments related to COP26 (see here)
- F20 Article, "Climate funding is rising – but it's still unable to break the 2% barrier" (see here)
- 'Tackling the climate crisis: does philanthropy have what it takes?' by Max von Abendroth & Karalyn Gardner (Dafne) (see here)
- Please find here a commentary by Benjamin Bellegy (WINGS) on why Philanthropy must act on code red for humanity (see here)

Reports

- COP26 Special Report on Climate Change and Health (see here)
- The most comprehensive report on climate mitigation funding from and in Europe put together by the EFC, ClimateWorks and the Hour is Late (see here) and ClimateWorks' overview of global trends in this space (see here)
- Here is a link to IFIP's Indigenous-led Funds Landscape Scan Report (see here)
- Nature-based Solutions: This seminal paper from the British Ecological Survey provides some principles for ensuring meaningful and respectful NbS that work (see here)
- in this latest ECFI report there are some example on how CFs embracing SDGs across their organization and advancing the climate work and the Agenda2030 at the local level (Foundation Scotland is among the example) (see here)
- Climate as part of our international leadership journeys (see here)
- EDGE - UNRISD 2-pager on shifting from climate philanthropy to climate justice philanthropy (see here)
- Mapping of European Environmental Foundation Funding (see here)
- Agree very much with the importance of linking human rights with Climate. People might be interested in the Renewables and Human Rights Benchmark which aims to start a conversation with investors and others about human rights in the new and developing industries (see here)